Looking to create a better alternative for businesses in Maine, Matthew Cardente founded Cardente Real Estate in July of 2005. Since opening its doors, Cardente Real Estate has grown to five full time commercial brokers with over 25 years of combined experience.

The brokerage team includes Karen Rich; a leading commercial broker in Greater Portland since 1991, Greg Perry who was the first to join CRE and has a long history of broker sales and representation, Nathan DeLois; an active commercial broker in Maine for the last five years, Michael Cardente who helped found the company and carries his sales agent license, Emily Pickering; CRE Office Manager, and Matthew Cardente who is the owner and Designated Broker.

Cardente Real Estate is a full service commercial brokerage that specializes in all aspects of the sale of leasing of commercial real estate and businesses in Maine and New Hampshire.

Cardente says: "We have been fortunate to work on projects such as Western Avenue Crossing, a large retail strip in South Portland; Thompson's Point, a considerable industrial project in Portland; several significant land development parcels in Saco; and other commercial properties from Kittery to Bangor."

Cardente Real Estate is located at 299 Forest Avenue in Portland, across from the University of Southern Maine Library.
